Commercial Banking Corporation (RCBC)

Commercial Banking Corporation is the Philippines' fifth largest private domestic commercial bank with total consolidated assets of about PhP 164 billion (or US$3.0 billion) as of December 2001. The Yuchengco Group - one of the country's largest and most diversified business conglomerates with interests in banking, insurance, manufacturing, realty and other sectors - and The United Financial of Japan hold substantial stakes in RCBC at 56% and 25% shares, respectively.

RCBC was founded for business as a small development bank in 1960, then went through rapid growth to become the preferred banker to a wide range of markets: the Filipino-Chinese corporate market, exporters in the export processing zones, the middle market, and the consumer/retail market.
